ORTHWESTERN TO FACE IRISH

Salem High Invades New Philadelphia For
Tough Scrap

Invited by the Michigan-Ohio tussle at Columbus where a total of 70,000 was the prospect, Ten football teams figured to be before close to 200,000 spectators today.

Irish At Northwestern
Notre Dame's visit to Northwestern was expected to lure 45,000 into the stadium, while 40,000 Minnesota fans and a few others were out to watch the mighty scrum on Chicago at Minneapolis today.

Wisconsin's homecoming, with an O'Dea as the guest of honor, and Illinois' undefeated eleven as opponents, was to be presented before 30,000 customers. The Illinois outplayed Northwestern only after a bitter struggle last week, appeared to be in for another trying afternoon against the inspired Badgers.

The Indiana delegation was occupied with intersectional affairs.
Purdue's Boilermakers were at New York to meet Fordham before from 40,000 to 45,000, while Indiana entertained Maryland at Bloomington.

Salem At New Philly

From the standpoint of scholastic football, Salem fans will keep an eye on the activities of their Quaker at New Philadelphia this afternoon. Little hope is held for a Salem victory, inasmuch as New Philly has won eight in a row, but the Snuithens are going into the battle with the expectation of giving a good account of themselves.

Buckeyes Favored

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 17.—Ohio State and Michigan were ready for their traditional gridiron battle here today, but 70,000 fans were not so chippy after a night of homecoming festivities.

The Michigan-Ohio battle, for no reason at all so far as the records show, promised to draw the largest crowd of the day in football circles.
Ohio was an overwhelming favorite to win, since it has won five of its six contests and Michigan has dropped five of its six.

Rain Would Aid Michigan

Earlier forecasts said rain was scheduled for the day, and Michigan's hopes rose. But later predictions indicated the showers would hold off until after the game. Rain designating the road from the intersection of the Salem-Lisbon road eastward through Franklin Square, Lintonia and thence to Columbiana, a total of 3.3 miles has been added

County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk.

The new route, now known as state route No. 715, also is called the Columbiana-Lintonia-Western

President Views Progress Of 'New Deal' Power Dream

Roosevelt Inspects Construction Work On Tennessee Valley and Model City of Norris

President Roosevelt Norris, Tenn., model TVA town

(By International News Service)
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 17.— When President Roosevelt sped eastward from the Pacific coast on his return from his recent vacation trip to Hawaii he inspected huge dams and waterpower projects. But for his pet New Deal scheme, the tremendous Tennessee Valley development that is to change the economic destiny of more than 2-600,000 Americans, the president has planned a special holiday.

More than 13 months ago, as president-elect, Roosevelt toured the TVA region in company with Senator George W. Norris, one of the most ardent advocates of federal owned public utilities in the country. They gazed at the huge Muscle Shoals dam, World war
"white elephant," which has become one of the New Deal federally operated "yardsticks" that are forcing scores of private power companies in the south to reduce consumer charges.

LEGISLATORS RETURN MONDAY

Action Seen by Assembly On Tax Problem For School Aid

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Nov. 17.—Ohio's recessed legislature returns Monday to the tune of an increasing clamor for a retail sales tax as the keynote of a financial program to aid schools and governmental functions.
Should the assembly adopt a 3 per cent sales tax, as Gov. George White will ask it to do, it will be faced with a demand from Ohio municipal officials that the law stipulate distribution of funds according to tax duplicates in counties, cities and school districts.

The conference also instructed Mayor Henry W. Worley, its chairman, to confer with school interests to determine whether an agreement can be reached on some stipulated form of distribution.

Assembly Action Seen Prospects for action by the assembly, which daily grew brighter during the last week, received their crowning touch yesterday when Governor-Elect Martin L. Davey, after a conference offered his support to Gov. White's program of a sales tax, an increased utility excise tax and re-enactment of the liquid fuel tax.

Arrest Swindler PORTSMOUTH, O., Nov. 17.—On complaint of Charles Donaldson, an architect, Richard W. Ruffin, 72 of San Bartola, Mexico, was arrested here charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. Donaldson contended Ruffin represented himself as a wealthy estate owner in Mexico. Ruffin was held in default of $1,000 bond.

Father of 6 Killed
CINCINNATI, Nov. 17.—Edward Knauer of Williamsburg, father of six children, was killed north of here when his truck was struck by a Cincinnati & Lake Erie traction car.
Benjamin Beckert, of near Trenton, motorman, said he did not see the truck in time to stop his car.

WARREN SLAYER CALM AS JURY DECREEES DEATH

Elmer Martin, Roadhouse Proprietor, Faces Electric Chair

DEFENSE WILL ASK NEW TRIAL

No Recommendation of Mercy Contained In Jury Edict

(By Associated Press)
WARREN, Nov. 17.—Elmer E.
Martin, proprietor of a roadhouse, today faced death in Ohio peni-tentiary's electric chair.

Martin watched placidly late last night as a jury of six men and six women reported they had found him guilty of first degree murder in connection with the killing of Charles Campbell of Tucson, Ariz., on Aug.
28. Mercy was not recommended, making the death sentence mandatory.

Will Ask New Trial
Martin's attorney announced that motions for a new trial will be filed.
Campbell was killed as he stood in a garage operated by his brother James. He and his brother and Martin were talking together at the time, the state contended.

After the shooting police went to Martin's roadhouse. They testified they found Martin there and a box containing $16,000 in currency which later was identified as part of the loot in the robbery of a New Jersey bank messenger.

The box had an important part in the trial. The state contended that Martin feared the Campbell brothers because he believed they had learned of his possession of the box.

Became Angry
The state charged the Campbell brothers and a number of other persons visited Martin's roadhouse the day of the killing and gained entrance through a window. It was contended this visit that Martin was having his conversation with them, the prosecutor contended. The prosecutor said that Martin became angry, produced a revolver and fired, wounding James and killing Charles.

Martin spoke no word to defend himself during the trial. His counsel, however, insisted that Campbell was accidentally shot when his brother James angrily grabbed the weapon held by Martin.

RURAL SCHOOLS FACE MERGER

County Board May Consolidate Five Districts
Into One Group

Five rural school districts in the county will be consolidated into one district at a meeting of the county board of education on Monday, it was reported today. The districts to be grouped into one include Elk-run, Madison, St. Clair and Middleton townships and Negley school district in Middleton township.

The proposed move means the elimination of the election of township boards of education in these township and school districts.

One District In Charge
The one district board of education will eventually have charge of the consolidated districts. Each township and district board of education is composed of five members, each receiving an annual salary of $20.

Consolidation of districts will result in a saving of $400 annually in board of education members' salary.
The proposed new board, designed to look after the consolidated district will be composed of five members, at a salary of $20 a year.

It is possible that other school districts in the county will be consolidated later, but the proposal that will be discussed by the county board of education Monday is the first change in the current setup in this county as provided by law.

vention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union which closed quet given in connection with the state convention at Hotel Statler, for their work in the membership drive during the last year.

All the former state officers were re-elected. They are: President, retary, Mrs. E. F. Loomis; treasurer, Mrs. Nora Pontius and cor-

Canton parole officer, attached to the division of probation and parole of the state department of public welfare, was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club here.

Griffith detailed the work of this state divisional department, and urged cooperation of citizens to aid paroled persons.

Another woman has been rocketed into a high spot in the New Deal administration with the appointment of Miss Josephine A. Roche, of Denver, as Democrat, Miss Roche became widely known for her labor welfare policies while serving as president of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company. In her new post, she ranks second only to Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor. Others holding important places are Ruth Bryan Owen, minister to Denmark; Nellie Tayloe Ross, director of the mint, and Marion G. Bannister, assistant treasurer.

Commissioners Ask Repair of Highway

LISBON, Nov. 17.—County commissioners have approved a resolution, to be forwarded to State Director of Highways O. W. Merrill, petitioning to improve that section of the Lisbon-Wellsville road, State Route No. 45, between West Point and Glasgow. Between Glasgow and Wellsville, the road has been improved, with the exception of that part within the corporate limits of Wellsville.

The section sought to be improved, is a narrow highway, and exceedingly rough. A part of the road was widened during the CWA road program in this county, but no surfacing was laid.

$4,543 In Pledges

LISBON, Nov. 17.—Contributions totaling $4,543 have been reported

"BIG BUSINESS" PLEDGES AID TO HELP RECOVERY

Expected To Place Full Power Behind Housing Drive

WILL SEND PLAN TO WHITE HOUSE

Will Urge Next Year's Deficit Be Kept to "Tolerable Limit"

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Big business leaders gave every indication today of putting their full force behind the housing drive as a means of hurrying recovery, striking a blow at unemployment and thus preventing congress from plunging far to the "left."

This, an authoritative source disclosed, probably will be a chief plank in the recovery platform which spokesmen of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and other organizations will present to the White House.

Ratified By Chamber
The decision to draw up this program, a momentous step in the new movement for cooperation between business and the White House, was ratified by the chamber's directors yesterday.

Raymond Moley, a chief adviser of the President, is understood to have been acting as liaison man between the White House and these sessions attended by men of the Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers and the National Industrial Conference board.

James A. Moffett, federal housing administrator, also has been playing a leading part. He is understood to have urged the business leaders to put all their powers behind the housing campaign, under which loans for repairs are 30 per cent guaranteed and mortgages on new homes insured up to 80 per cent of appraised value.

Many business leaders note with satisfaction that the government lends none of this money, but necessarily arranges the insurance. A special committee of the chamber, in urging yesterday that the deficit next year be held down to at least, "a tolerable limit," frowned on immediate suggestions for new public works, such as Secretary Ickes has hinted.

Uneasiness Feared
"Assuming a deficit is inescapable," it said, "it would appear that if its amount were limited to a portion of the expenditures occasioned by direct relief grants, it would not create the uneasiness that would result from new large appropriations for public works and for other emergency activities."

In striving for a united front to urge the business viewpoint on the president, the chambers directors adopted a resolution declaring there is "evidence of a growing deterioration in the business, industry and agriculture to cooperate in every possible manner to promote an improvement in recovery from the existing economic condition."

Program Is Given At Willow Grove
At the meeting of Willow Grove grange last evening, the roll call response was, "What Mode of Travel My Husband Used While Courting."

"Travels" was the theme of the following program: A musical travelogue in effective costume, read by Mrs. Samuel Christopher with the following people taking part in the impersonations of foreign lands: Holland, Perry Oesch; Spain, Raymond and Margaret Burton; Ireland, Ruth Baunach; France, Mrs.
Frank Frederick and Frank Pultz, and Scotland, Marjory Whinnery and Richard Barchey; talk, "My Trip to Florida," Marjory Whinnery; "The Business of Kentucky and Virginia," Esther Hoover; talk "Westward Ho," E. Y. Gamble, and playlet, "No Train Today."

The Community Club Players, directed by Charles Wilhelm, will present a three-act play, "Masquerade," at 8 p. m. Friday, Nov. 23, at the grange hall. The public is invited to attend.

He'll Owe It

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov.
17.—Huey Long hung one of me, he stopped me. He asked me for a thousand dollars for his legal opinion. He could have stopped me for fifty just as easily. I am sending him my note for a thousand, for according to his own law of Louisiana, he can't collect it anyhow.

Minnesota, from what we can all hear, is the best team east of any mountains, and if professional jealousy among their own conference don't stop 'em they should be in the Rose Bowl New Years, but if they don't, I am pulling for Huey's kindergarten.

Stanford will play 'em, and we will have Sinclair debate Huey between halves, and Sister Aimee and myself will referee the debate.

Yours,

Will Rogers

Ohio mayors, meeting in Columbus to lay plans for getting their cities' share of revenue from a state sales tax, are facing the future realistically. They admit frankly that distributing money presents more difficulties than getting a sales tax to raise money.

The old custom of "each division of government for itself" will be adhered to rigidly. Municipalities will fight against school districts and counties for the lion's share. Rural communities will try to out-stal urban communities. Donnybrook fair will be a Sunday school picnic in contrast to what will happen when and if the legislature enacts a sales tax.

It is useless to appeal for mutual generosity and fairness. Whatever control can be exercised will have to flow from strong leadership, not from tax-starved cities, schools and counties. At best, there will be a great deal of unpleasantness. The purpose must be to see that the brawl isn't any worse than it has to be.

Population would seem to offer the best measure for dividing proceeds, if a sales tax be enacted. This measure, however, needs to be checked with another. Tax duplicates have been suggested. But, even after the money has been divided among counties, the job would be only started. How is it to be divided after it gets to the counties?

If the political rule of "grab" were allowed to prevail, the sacrifice entailed in operation of a sales tax would be futile in many cases. Ohio apparently is willing to submit to a sales tax, but only with the understanding that it is an emergency remedy for an acute illness. If poor leadership permits greed to get the upper hand in apportioning the revenue from a sales tax, the remedy will aggravate Ohio's dangerous financial condition instead of improving it.

PRECEDENCE

Washington once more is arguing about the proper order of things, but Dolly Gann is far, far away. The issue of precedence this time is over social legislation.

President Roosevelt told members of his advisory council on social security that he placed unemployment insurance first. Inferentially, he made it the only social security objective of the new Congress. Because he did not place equal emphasis on old-age and health insurance, some feelings have been hurt.

To possessors of injured feelings one consideration is recommended. They are saying that President Roosevelt has abused their faith in his intention to give the country a complete social security program. They charge he has withheld approval of old-age benefits and health insurance for the purpose of soothing the apprehensions of big business.

These things may all be true. If so, there is no reason for criticizing President Roosevelt. Instead of being disappointed and resentful, those who had hoped for unemployment insurance, old-age pensions and health insurance all in one package should be congratulating themselves.

They were—probably still are—ready to undertake more than they can handle at once. Unemployment insurance in itself, if they do it right, is enough to keep them busy for the next quarter of a century. Old-age pensions is important enough to be made a separate task. Health insurance might well be given separate consideration.

If it were President Roosevelt's intention to announce that unemployment insurance should be considered first, he should have the gratitude of every American convinced of the rightness and inevitability of social insurance. If it's worth doing at all, it's worth doing right. The best way to do it right is to do it carefully—one detail at a time.

THE STARS SAY

For Sunday, November 18

Sunday's horoscope holds testimony of eventful and happy conditions in all affairs pertaining to church and state, the public, as well as in all domestic, social and romantic affiliations, with much activity in purely personal relations. A sudden change of some importance is forecast, calling for new environs, contacts and interests. This should result in increased fortunes and personal prestige.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which a quite unexpected and unheralded change may be prolific in enhancing the position, possessions and increasing the stability of the fortunes. Travel, new surroundings and associates should effect this, with personal affiliations greatly and happily involved.

A child born on this day may be talented and skillful in unusual directions although practical and dependable. Its social and domestic associations and graces should also contribute to a successful and pleasant life.

Notable nativity: Galli Curci, opera singer.

For Monday, November 19

Monday's astrological forecast is marked by intrigue, conspiracy, the subtle secretive and baffling. In all associations and interests there is need for alertness and precaution against fraud, deception, underhand methods and treachery with angles of the curious, mystifying and inexplicable. Losses, jealousy, trickery and lies in business and finance and disturbing conditions in social, domestic and romantic affairs. Under this baneful sign courtship and marriage would be perilous.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which the subtle, mysterious curious and marvelous may complexion and separate all the affairs. Unusual precaution, wariness and insight into such secretive and baffling entanglements are the only hope against loss, distress and disappointment in such intriguing and sinister circumstance. Safeguard especially intimate private affiliations.

A child born on this day may be disposed to lean to the unusual singular, mysterious and occult or mystifying rather than the practical. It may be given to love intrigues and much secretive traffic.

Notable nativity: James A. Garfield, ex-president U. S. A.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—I'm going to church tomorrow. Not that I shouldn't every Sunday, but with one thing and another I haven't. There's no special denomination in mind. Rather I expect to drop into one or another in my neighborhood that strikes my fancy on a morning walk.

I rarely hang enraptured on the words of a pulpiteer. Much of a sermon's portent, its ecclesiasticism, escapes me. But always I have come away immeasurably refreshed by the gentle harmony of the benediction. Outside the world has taken on a sudden rosiest. There's more of a sing to life.

I have never set myself to a serious deciphering of the unknowable. I only know that I believe. A sun-down in its gorgeously tinted and orderly recession is conclusive proof to me of a power beyond pygmy conceptions of man. That is enough. No argument confounds it.

The most touchingly beautiful paragraph Christopher Morley ever wrote in a career of exquisite writing—some day there will be monuments to him—concerned an incident in a humble little Quaker meeting house in Oxford. A shy homely girl in a plain tweed suit suddenly got up after a long hush in the silent sitting. It was a clear moist Spring morning with a savor in the air. Her voice trembled with terror but she managed to exclaim: "I'm thinking of the sky and the trees and the shadow of the trees, and the wind, and the smell of everything." As suddenly she sat down, subsiding into a shaken privacy of tears. That is the humility a bruised world needs. Perhaps never so much as right now.

At John Callahan's Bowery mission one wintry night Robert Emmett MacAlarney, then my city editor and now an eminent man of letters, and I heard a heart-wringing testimony of a fellow on our newspaper we liked. He is gone now and would not care for unnecessary canonization. Let it suffice. He was a forthright newspaperman when out of his cups. But booze floored him, indeed it gutted him and without hope he had wandered into the mission because the flop joints had given him the one, two, three. In his befuddlement, something he heard at that mission started him swimming up sluggishly from the dregs. So this night, in clear-eyed regeneration that lasted until the end, he said: "I'm just back from Hell. I was deluged because, blind drunk I stumbled into this little chapel of worship. It had been my first church visit since I was 14." We can't quite laugh off such episodes.

I know several cultured men with no particular religious leaning who go to Europe chiefly to make the rounds of cathedrals. They plead a love of magnificent architecture. Partly so, no doubt. But I have watched them at Rheims, Bruges, Rouen, Milan. Invariably they tip-toe inside, slip into some pew and lose themselves in reverie as the music of the organ comes swelling and wavering down the nave. In reality, they are clutching the hem of some wondrous thought, sweeping reverences that skirt the enormity of Eternity. It may not be an earnest religious devotion, but I believe it indicative of a tiny spark that agnosticism, yea atheism and physical science, cannot extinguish.

My biggest spiritual let-down was in my 20's. I had taken on a thin veneer of worldliness—a bull dog pipe, 50 cent daily bet on the ponies and three fingered toasts of rye meat. I lived in a sporty and flashy hotel frequented by burlesque coryphees, migratory buzzards who swooped from Latonia to Churchill Downs to Havre de Grace and sundry questionable pickpockets. The flesh-pots seemed the whole of living. In such atmosphere, I quite naturally became beclotted, bedazzled and indeed often be-drunk. The bars, concert halls, card rooms were the most entrancing of all places. They even compensated for those cloudy next day hangovers. Almost every young cub of the editorial rooms has had his stagger through these voluptuositous and it's a wonder so many come through so finely. But they do.

Dives for $40,000,000 in Buried Treasure

Two years of plans will culminate soon with beginning of efforts of Simon Lake, pioneer submarine builder, to locate $40,000,000 in treasure supposedly lost when British ship Hesper sank in Hell Gate narrows, off Manhattan Island, New York, in 1780. He will use specially built salvage submersible illustrated in action here to search waters in vicinity of Hell Gate bridge (below) for hulk. Lake (right) will have assistance of Frank Crilly, famous diver, with whom he is shown. Contract with U. S. government, which controls all navigable waters, provides that big share of any treasure found will belong to Uncle Sam.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Here Is a Disease More Common Than Believed

Inflammation of the bladder or "cystitis," to quote the doctor, is a common and annoying complaint. It is often confused with kidney disorders and its true nature is overlooked. Neglect is dangerous because cystitis may be the first sign of a disorder which if not attended to may prove serious.

Dr. Copeland

Mild forms of cystitis can often be traced to excessive fatigue, exposure to cold and dampness, or the drinking of large quantities of spicy and irritating fluids. In these cases, the discomfort is temporary and quickly disappears.

Sign of Infection
Persistent pain and discomfort on urination, especially burning and the presence of blood, increased frequency and smarting, may be the signs of a severe and serious inflammation. These are warning signs and must not be neglected.

As a rule they indicate that the bladder is infected.

Complete relief and permanent cure can only be expected when the infection is entirely overcome. There is always danger that there may be spread of the infection if it is ignored the germs may find their way upward and infect the kidneys.

Cystitis is more common than most persons suspect. The bladder is adjacent to the intestines and the intestines are always laden with bacteria. It will be seen how readily the germs may travel to the bladder and set up a serious infection. As a rule this type of infection can be traced to a germ called the "bacillus coli." It is especially common among those who suffer from constipation and other intestinal disorders.

Early Recognition Essential
Cystitis can also be traced to "focal points" of infection. By this is meant that the body may harbor a localized infection which is really quite distant from the bladder. The trouble may be in the teeth, tonsils or nasal sinuses. These infected areas liberate poisons which are carried in the blood stream to the kidneys and bladder. For this reason favorable progress in the cure of cystitis is often delayed because of failure to check up on the teeth, nasal sinuses and other organs and tissues.

The sufferer from persistent and prolonged cystitis must bear in mind that the disorder may be due primarily to a stone or tumor within the bladder. Very rarely it is the result of tuberculosis of the bladder.

The exact condition can be determined by means of a special examination known as "cystoscopy." In this examination it is possible actually to view the interior of the bladder. In addition, it is possible to have X-ray pictures taken of the bladder and kidneys. Early recognition of the disorder is essential for prevention of serious damage to the body.

Banton, who made the selection from a field of lavishly-dressed stars, including Marlene Dietrich, Claudette Colbert and Joan Crawford, said he picked Miss Lombard chiefly because she was "crazy about clothes". The church is not an organization which came from the mind and labors of man. It is a divine institution. It proceedeth from the thought and plan of God. A Christian cannot take lightly the work and life of the church and be consistent with the spirit of Jesus Christ, the Son of God. The Christian as a member of the church can be one of God's agents to bring about the saving of the souls of men. The church is the light-house which God uses to bring to the world the hope and truth of Christian faith. A sincere and earnest Christian cannot do less than be interested in the church, the bride of Christ. The church helps to make the Christian more secure in his Christian faith and life.

Morning worship 11. Sermon: "The Kingdom Within."

The Kingdom of God is an established reality. It is here. In fact, it has outlived many of the kingdoms and empires of men, which in their day attempted to overpower and hinder the work of God. The most powerful force today for making the world a fit place in which man can live, is the Kingdom of God. There is great danger of placing too much emphasis upon the physical and outward nature of the Kingdom of God. That trend is unwise. The Kingdom of God depends not upon temporal power for its continuance and influence. Jesus went as a lamb to the cross, when He had the power to call legions of angels to his rescue. The strength of the Kingdom of God rests upon the security of the principles and doctrines of God in the human heart. The Kingdom of God is within you. The physical and temporal phase of the Kingdom fades into nothingness as compared to the spiritual and inner forces of God. In this fact there is security and hope.

"MORTALS AND IMMORTALS" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 18, 1934.

The Golden Text is: "The creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God." (Rom. 8:21).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And it shall come to pass in the last days, that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it." (Isa. 2:2).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "It is only by acknowledging the supremacy of Spirit, which annuls the claims of matter, that mortals can lay off mortality and find the indissoluble spiritual link which established man forever in the divine likeness, inseparable from his creator." (p. 491).

SECTION

END OF 1934
GRID SEASON
'ROUND CORNERSectional and National Title Races Reach
New Pitch

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—With the end of the 1934 football season just around the corner, the race for sectional and national titles reached a new high pitch today as the contending teams endeavored to settle their differences for the time limit.

In the mid-west, where the Big Ten race winds up next week, Minnesota's Mighty Gophers and the undefeated Illinois team were expected to continue their race in its present status although Minnesota already has practically been conceded all the honors. Minnesota faced the twice beaten Maroons of Chicago while Illinois encountered Wisconsin. Rounding out the conference program was the annual Ohio State-Michigan encounter, one of the season's high spots.

Intersectional Card
Northwestern took on Notre Dame, Purdue faced Fordham at New York in the day's outstanding intersectional fray and Indiana took on Maryland.

In addition to the Fordham-Purdue clash, the east sent its leaders out to decide their own claims to the mythical title as the three remaining undefeated and untied teams in the section faced the toughest kind of opposition. Navy was the under-dog as it faced Pittsburgh's Golden Panthers, who have licked everyone they have met except Minnesota. Syracuse was given no better than an even chance against Colgate's deceptive Red Raiders in a game which may mean a Rose Bowl invitation to the winner. Princeton, although strongly favored, didn't dare take its 58th clash with Yale lightly. This series, oldest in football history, is a noted breeder of upsets.

Southeastern Frays

Southern leaders, battling for the two big conference titles appeared to have things easier as unbeaten Alabama encountered Georgia Tech, Tulane, which hasn't lost to a southern rival, met Kentucky and Huey Long's team—Louisiana State—faced Mississippi in the southeastern loop. The leading southern conference game sent Duke against North Carolina. Virginia Tech Virginia Tech in another conference game while Washington & Lee, co-leader with Duke, went outside to meet William & Mary.

Undefeated Teams In Feature Games Today

In three of the outstanding gridiron contests next Saturday, three undefeated teams—Navy, Princeton and Minnesota—try to keep their records clear against seemingly less powerful but still formidable foes. Navy clashes with Pittsburgh; Princeton tackles Yale in a "Big Three" tilt, and Minnesota meets Chicago. This layout shows some of the prominent players on the teams.

would hamper the Buckeye passing attack, its main threat, and give the heavy Michigan eleven an even chance.

Coach Harry Kipke of Michigan says "they will lick us," but Coach Francis Schmidt of the Bucks counters with, "These Michigan boys will be tough." But most of the 70,000 homecoming fans could see nothing but an Ohio victory.

Even Terms Nevertheless
Regardless of the condition of the field, the number of injuries or past performances, the teams will enter the game as they always have in the Michigan-Ohio classic—on even terms.

Ohio has a great offense and a fine defense, while Michigan has shown nothing but flashes of defensive strength, but Coach Schmidt of the Buckeyes said he would be satisfied to win by a single touchdown or a field goal.

The game is scheduled to start at 2 p. m.

Meet New Champ, Bob Olin, Product Of Golden Gloves"The Plodder" Stumbles Through 15 Drab Rounds
To Beat Maxie Rosenbloom

By EDDIE BRIETZ, Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Meet the new champion of the light heavyweights, Bob Olin, product of Brooklyn preliminaries, more recently of the Golden Gloves tournaments and now first citizen of the 175 pound division.

Olin, known in flaccid circles as "The Plodder," stumbled through 15 drab, dreary and at times sad rounds with Maxie Slapsey Rosenbloom at Madison Square Garden last night and by dint of his willingness to do most of what little fighting the evening produced, emerged with the decision, the title and whatever cash and glory that goes with it.

Rosenbloom Stalled
It was one of those "moral victories" which, in the past have been confined almost strictly to football. The consensus was that Rosenbloom, as usual, wouldn't fight and that Olin could not. But the youngster was game and willing. He tried to force the milling, and if Rosenbloom wouldn't cooperate, that wasn't his fault, all of which the judges took into consideration in awarding him with a unanimous decision.

Rosenbloom looked like anything but the furious mixer that has ruled the light-heavyweight roost for the past four years. He was slow about his stamina had deserted him and forbidden to use the slapping blows that have made him famous, seemed helpless in throwing punches. Not more than half a dozen good hits were landed all night. Olin got in most of these.

Towards the end the champion appeared to realize his long reign

The game was a scorers' nightmare as Jimmy Fox played one inning in each position, starting at third base and ending up in the pitchers box. The whole American lineup shifted each inning with Ruth and five others playing seven positions.

Fox and Lou Gehrig each contributed home runs.

Wisconsin At Its Homecoming

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Headed by the Michigan-Ohio State tussle at Columbus where a crowd of 70,000 was the prospect, Big Ten football teams figured to play before close to 200,000 spectators today.

Notre Dame's visit to Northwestern was expected to lure 45,000 into Dwyer stadium, while 40,000 Minnesota fans and a few others turned out to watch the mighty men work on Chicago at Minneapolis.

Wisconsin's homecoming, with Pat O'Dea as the guest of honor, and Illinois' undefeated eleven as the opposition, was to be presented before 30,000 customers. The Illini who outpointed Northwestern only after a bitter struggle last week, appeared to be in for another trying afternoon against the inspired Badgers.

The Indiana delegation was occupied with intersectional affairs. Purdue's Boilermakers were at New York to meet Fordham before from 40,000 to 45,000, while Indiana entertained Maryland at Bloomington.

A.A.U. At Convention May

Ranks May Be Clipped At Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 17.—The amateur ruling, the barbed wire barrier that has shagged some notable bristles in the history of American sport and kept the simon-pure sheep from the pro goats, may be clipped at the approaching A. A. U. national convention, to be held here Dec. 7-9.

Acting upon a suggestion almost as old and venerable as the rule itself, a southern faction of the sports body will introduce a resolution designed to permit an athlete to compete professionally in one or more sports, and still retain his amateur status in the others. It was disclosed today by J. B. Lemon, general chairman of the convention and delegate of the Southern Seaboard association of the A. A. U.

Could You Imagine?
Maxie Baer putting the shot in the Olympics, Dizzy Dean playing A. A. U. basketball, Bill Tilden skating in amateur hockey combat—these and other possibilities will flit across the horizon while the delegates debate the matter at their three-day session at the Miami Biltmore hotel here. Should the resolution pass it will usher in a new era in international sport. Occurrences such as the recent one concerning Paul and Lloyd Waner, big poison and little poison of the Pittsburgh Pirates' outfield, who vainly aspired to play midwest A. A. U. basketball after the pennant race was over, will be commonplace instead of outside the law as under the existing interpretation, it was pointed out.

In addition to attacking the Ger-

An attendance of 400 delegates is anticipated, and a program of entertainment has been arranged by Chairman Lemon, centering around the fifth annual Miami Biltmore open tournament which will be in progress here Dec. 8-14.

SEVEN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Four Men and Three Women Victims Near Altoona, Pa.

driving from Pittsburgh to State College in a borrowed automobile to see the Lafayette-Penn. State football game today. They were headed east.

The other four victims and Rudy were occupants of a car going west to Altoona for a dance. The two cars collided on a curve about six miles east of Altoona.

Machines Catch Fire
The machines rolled over after the impact and caught fire, trapping all but Miss Rudy in the flaming wreckage. The bodies of the three women were badly disfigured. Cravitt, Daniel and Perkins had borrowed an automobile from Friderick Zickler of McLeesport to make the journey. Officers said they were unable to tell who was driving the car.

Patrolmen said two hit-and-runners witnessed the collision. They told the police the Pittsburgh car was traveling at high speed.

Aged Minister Dead

TIFFIN, Nov. 17.—A minister since 1886, the Rev. Luther P. Gross, 90, retired, is dead at his home here. He was a graduate of Heidelberg Theological seminary, class of 1883. He retired 20 years ago after serving numerous pastorates, among them in Marion and Wayne counties.

Dix and Ex-Wife Settle Suit

Shortly after she settled her suit against her former husband, Richard Dix, noted screen star, for an increase in property settlement, Mrs. Winifred Cox Brimmer filed notice in Los Angeles of her intention to wed Dr. Harley J. Gunderson, 45-year-old surgeon. Dix and his ex-mate are shown, in a more or less friendly pose, in court when her suit was dismissed.

F. D. R. INSPECTS POWER PROJECT

Sees Construction Work in Tennessee Valley

a colossal workshop.

From his train coach and touring auto, President Roosevelt will view Norris dam which already is two months ahead of schedule. From this huge barrier of stone backing up a lake 80 miles square, 160,000 kilowatts of power will be generated.

He will watch the valley's 10,000 TVA workers at their jobs, the first many have had since the depression dropped into the valley. And they are mighty happy of the fact that they were chosen from more than 30,000 applicants who took the TVA mental and physical tests. With a wage scale averaging from 45 cents for unskilled to $1 an hour for skilled labor, many are getting the highest income in years.

President Roosevelt will see another concrete evidence of the New Deal in Norris, Tenn., the TVA needed town, that is virtually an experimental laboratory for the most modern developments in architectural and furnishing design.

Electricity Plentiful

There are more than 350 homes built of brick, steel, wood and concrete block, costing from $1,500 to $2,000 each, which rent for $15 to $45 monthly. In the higher priced residences, electricity, cheap and plentiful, is used for heating and cooking. Eventually when the three new dams are completed, electricity will be used for purposes ranging from dishwashing and milking cows to running junior's electric train.

Norris City, President Roosevelt will find, is a flourishing place despite its newness. He will ride on its trade school where TVA workers, their wives and children study. The town boasts of tennis, squash and horseback courts, a gymnasium, baseball diamonds and libraries.

Fifteen miles below Wilson dam at Muscle Shoals, the president will inspect Wheeler dam, number three in the TVA development, named after General Joseph Wheeler, a Confederate soldier and later a Spanish-American war officer. This concrete barrier will help supplement the Wilson dam power output.

Perhaps by the time President Roosevelt revisits the Tennessee valley next year, Pickwick and Guntersville dams may have been advanced from engineers' paper-projects into actual construction, swinging the colossal T. V. A. into its last stages.

URGES FARMERS TO HELP SELVES

Quit Looking so Much Toward Washington, Taber Says

too much delay, too much red tape and too much arbitrary authority from Washington in some of the programs adopted," he said. "But when we think of the task of trying to guide and direct the production of millions of independent farmers the magnitude of the problem is so appalling that we can overlook mistakes made and hope for the simplification and development of non-restrictive and less burdensome methods during the years that are just ahead. The three leaders are to be especially commended for submitting their corn and hog program to a referendum.

Conservation Program Urged
"Rightly," he continued, "the American farmer will never submit to governmental dictation. He can neither be regimented nor coerced except during periods of terrific emergency."

Mr. Taber recommended a conservation program for the withdrawal of millions of acres of marginal land from cultivation, some tracts to be returned to forests, others to be used as playgrounds, parks, wild-life experiment stations, sanctuaries and breeding grounds.

The draining of swamps and the lowering of lakes to increase the cultivated land is a foolish program which must be reversed, he said.

The grange master said that "our failure to adhere to the fundamentals in government and life has increased our troubles," and that "it is only by renewing our faith in eternal principles that progress can be made."

what is certainly the finest performance of her career as Henrietta, rebellious sister of Elizabeth, in love despite her father's protestations with the gallant Captain Cook, played by Ralph Forbes; Um made a hit in Marian Davies' "Operator 37," Ian Wolfe, Marion Clayton, Leo Carroll, Robert Carleton, and the dog, Flush.

Double Bill Wednesday
"The Barretts of Wimpole Street" has been widely publicized and consequently is popularly familiar. As a Katharine Cornell play it was presented in every important American center. As a picture it is reaching the same heights of popularity and its appealing, tender story is the same, always.

On Wednesday and Thursday the State shows a double bill—Joe E. Brown's new comedy (reputedly far better than his last), "Six-Day Bike Rider," in which he co-stars with Maxine Doyle, and "Wednesday's Child," from the Broadway stage hit. Karen Morley, Edward Arnold and the child actor, Frankie Thomas, enact leading roles.

Artless Film
The week concludes with the showing Friday and Saturday of "The Last Gentleman," starring George Arliss. He is supported by Edna May Oliver, Charlotte Henry, Janet Beecher and Ralph Morgan.

On Saturday and Sunday the Grand shows "Peck's Bad Boy," starring Jackie Cooper. Here is the same old story we all love, with the boy who, out of all Hollywood, should certainly make the part live. Thomas Meighan returns to the screen as the father, and others are Jackie Searl, O. P. Heggie and Dorothy Peterson.

Wise Store Manager
MARION Nov. 17.—G. P. Fulton, 43, alias Arthur E. Wilson, Columbus, was in custody today after being trailed and taken to police station by A. C. Stover, 23, a store manager.

Fulton, according to Stover, tried to cash an allegedly spurious check in his store. Fulton admitted the attempt and several others.

Two years ago, three gunmen who robbed Stover's store, were pursued and shot by him, making possible their capture.

Sawyer was graduated from the college in 1908; Mrs. Rich in 1911.
